1           1.       (Currently Amended)       A gun rack for holding a firearm including a
2 stock, a trigger guard and a barrel, the stock including a butt portion, the gun rack
3 comprising:

4           a stock support assembly including a butt support member, ~~the butt portion of~~
5 ~~the firearm positionable in and supportable by the butt support member for~~
6 supporting and positioning the butt of the firearm;

7           at least one side stock support member, connected to and extending from the 8 butt support member, the side stock support member including an a lock accepting 9 ~~aperture located near a distal end of~~ formed through the side stock support member,
10 ~~the aperture adapted to permit insertion of a pin portion of a lock through the~~
11 ~~aperture;~~

12           a first mounting bracket, the stock support member pivotally mounted to the 13 first mounting bracket ~~and pivotable about an axis of rotation;~~

14           a barrel support assembly including a barrel clip for grasping ~~placement about~~ 15 an outer perimeter of a barrel of the firearm; and

16           a second mounting bracket, the barrel clip pivotally mounted to the second 17 mounting bracket ~~and pivotable about the axis of rotation; and~~

18           ~~the side stock support member including the aperture and the lock pivotable~~
19 ~~with the stock support member.~~

1           2.       (Cancelled)   The gun rack of Claim 1 wherein the stock support
2 assembly further comprises at least one side stock support member connected to 3 and extending from the butt support member.

1           3.       (Cancelled)   The gun rack of Claim 2 wherein the side stock support
2 member further comprises an aperture located near a distal end of the side stock

3 support member, a lock securable through the aperture and a trigger guard of the 4 firearm for securing the firearm to the stock support assembly.

1 4. (Currently Amended) The gun rack of Claim 2 1 wherein the lock
2 accepting aperture further comprises an oblong lock accepting aperture ~~located near~~
3 ~~a distal end of the side stock support member, the pin portion of the lock securable~~
4 ~~through the aperture and the trigger guard of the firearm for securing the firearm to~~ 5 ~~the stock support assembly.~~

1 5. (Cancelled) The gun rack of Claim 1 further comprising:
2 a first mounting bracket, the stock support member pivotally mounted to the
3 first mounting bracket and pivotable about an axis of rotation; and
4 a second mounting bracket, the barrel clip pivotally mounted to the second
5 mounting bracket and pivotable about the axis of rotation.

1 6. (Original) The gun rack of Claim 1 wherein the barrel support
2 assembly further comprises a resilient barrel clip for grasping placement about a
3 portion of a circumference of a gun barrel.

1 7. (Previously Presented) The gun rack of Claim 1 wherein the barrel
2 support assembly further comprises a second side stock support member connected
3 to and extending from the butt support member, the first side stock support member
4 opposing the second side stock support member, the first side stock support
5 member including a substantially parallel orientation relative to the second side stock
6 support member.

1 8. (Currently Amended) The gun rack of Claim 7 further comprising:

2 the second side stock support member including a second lock accepting
3 aperture formed through the second side stock support member ~~adapted to permit~~
4 ~~insertion of the pin portion of the lock through the second aperture.~~

1 9. (Cancelled) The gun rack of Claim 7 further comprising:
2 the first side stock support member including a first oblong aperture;
3 the second side stock support member including a second oblong aperture;
4 and
5 a lock securable through the first oblong aperture, the second oblong aperture
6 and a trigger guard of the firearm for securing the firearm to the stock support
7 assembly.

1 10. (Cancelled) The gun rack of Claim 7 further comprising:
2 the stock support assembly including a first mounting bracket, the stock
3 support member pivotally mounted to the first mounting bracket and pivotable about
4 an axis of rotation; and
5 the barrel support assembly including a second mounting bracket, the barrel
6 clip pivotally mounted to the second mounting bracket and pivotable about the axis
7 of rotation.

1 11. (Currently Amended) A gun rack for holding a firearm including a
2 stock, a trigger guard and a barrel, the stock including a butt portion, the gun rack
3 comprising:
4 a stock support assembly including a butt support member, the stock support
5 assembly including a first side stock support member and a second side stock
6 support member, the first side stock support member and a second side stock
7 support member connected to and extending from the butt support member, the first 8 side stock support member including a first lock accepting aperture formed through 9 the first stock support member and the second side stock support member including

10 a second lock accepting aperture formed through the second side stock support
11 member ~~adapted to permit insertion of the pin portion of the lock through the second~~
12 ~~aperture, the butt portion of the firearm positionable between the first side stock~~
13 ~~support member and the second side stock support member supported by the butt~~
14 ~~support member;~~

15 a barrel support assembly including a barrel clip for placement about an outer 16 perimeter of a barrel of the firearm;

17 a first mounting bracket, the stock support member pivotally mounted to the
18 first mounting bracket ~~and pivotable about an axis of rotation;~~

19 a second mounting bracket, the barrel clip pivotally mounted to the second
20 mounting bracket ~~and pivotable about the axis of rotation;~~

21 the first lock accepting aperture aligned with the second lock accepting 22 aperture for permitting insertion of a lock through the first lock accepting aperture 23 and the second lock accepting aperture ~~lock securable through the first aperture, the~~ 24 ~~second aperture and the trigger guard of the firearm for securing the firearm to the~~ 25 ~~stock support assembly; and~~

26 the first side stock support member ~~including the first aperture~~, the second
27 side stock support member ~~including the second aperture~~ and the a lock pivotable
28 with the first mounting bracket and the stock support member.

1 12. (Cancelled) The gun rack of Claim 11 wherein the side stock support
2 member further comprises an aperture located near a distal end of the side stock
3 support member, a lock securable through the aperture and a trigger guard of the
4 firearm for securing the firearm to the stock support assembly.

1 13. (Cancelled) The gun rack of Claim 11 wherein the side stock support
2 member further comprises an oblong aperture located near a distal end of the side
3 stock support member, a lock securable through the aperture and a trigger guard of 4 the firearm for securing the firearm to the stock support assembly.

1           14.   (Original)    The gun rack of Claim 11 wherein the barrel support
2 assembly further comprises a resilient barrel clip for placement about a portion of a
3 circumference of a gun barrel.

1           15.   (Cancelled) The gun rack of Claim 11 wherein the barrel support
2 assembly further comprises a second side stock support member connected to and
3 extending from the butt support member, the first side stock support member
4 opposing the second side stock support member, the first side stock support
5 member including a substantially parallel orientation relative to the second side stock
6 support member.

1           16.   (Cancelled) The gun rack of Claim 15 further comprising:
2 the first side stock support member including a first aperture;
3 the second side stock support member including a second aperture; and 4 a lock securable through the first aperture, the second aperture and a trigger
5 guard of the firearm for securing the firearm to the stock support assembly.

1           17.   (Cancelled) The gun rack of Claim 15 further comprising:
2 the first side stock support member including a first oblong aperture;
3 the second side stock support member including a second oblong aperture;
4 and
5 a lock securable through the first oblong aperture, the second oblong aperture
6 and a trigger guard of the firearm for securing the firearm to the stock support
7 assembly.

1           18.   (Cancelled) The gun rack of Claim 15 further comprising:
2 the stock support assembly including a first mounting bracket, the stock
3 support member pivotally mounted to the first mounting bracket and pivotable about
4 an axis of rotation; and

5 the barrel support assembly including a second mounting bracket, the barrel
6 clip pivotally mounted to the second mounting bracket and pivotable about the axis
7 of rotation.

1 19. (Cancelled) A gun rack for supporting a firearm including a trigger
2 guard and locking the firearm to the gun rack with a lock, the gun rack comprising:
3 a stock support assembly including a butt support member, the stock support
4 assembly including at least one side stock support member connected to and
5 extending from the butt support member, the butt portion of the firearm positionable
6 in and supportable by the butt support member, the at least one side stock support
7 member including a first aperture adapted to receive the lock through the aperture
8 and the trigger guard of the firearm for securing the firearm to the stock support
9 assembly;

10 a barrel support assembly including a resilient barrel clip for grasping
11 placement about an outer perimeter of a firearm gun barrel;

12 a first mounting bracket, the stock support member pivotally mounted to the 13 first mounting bracket and pivotable about an axis of rotation; and

14 a second mounting bracket, the barrel clip pivotally mounted to the second
15 mounting bracket and pivotable about the axis of rotation.

1 20. (Cancelled) The gun rack of Claim 19 further comprising:

2 a second side stock support member connected to and extending from the 3 butt support member, the second side stock support member including a second 4 aperture adapted to receive the lock through the aperture; and

5 a lock securable through the first aperture, the second aperture and the 6 trigger guard of the firearm for securing the firearm to the stock support assembly.
